

SAYS BASEBALL TRUST-RULED

And Calls For Congressional Investigation of It

MAGNATES HAVE A LAUGH

Representative Gallagher of Illinois Introduced Resolution in the House and Declares He Will Confer with Department of Justice.

Washington, D. C., March 12.—A congressional investigation of the "baseball trust," the most audacious and autocratic trust in the country, is proposed in a resolution introduced by Representative Gallagher, Illinois, in the House yesterday. It accuses the trust of "controlling baseball games, fixing prices which millions must pay to witness the sport, enslaving men and forcing them to accept salaries or be forever debared from playing."

Representative Gallagher said he would confer with the department of justice in a day or two.

Cincinnati, O., March 12.—Representative Gallagher's resolution for investigation of the so-called baseball trust was characterized as a joke yesterday by August Heremann of the national baseball commission. "There is no baseball trust. From the nature of the game there never can be," he said.

DEAD IN A CHAIR.

Atlantic City Visitor Stricken on the Boardwalk.

Atlantic City, March 12.—A small boy yesterday playfully shoved a rolling chair in which reposed an unidentified man, sending it clear across the boardwalk into the opposite rail. The occupant did not move. Visitors smiled as the little joker repeated the shove. When this did not arouse the man, the attendant looked into his face, then tried to awaken him.

Instead of being asleep, the man was dead. An ambulance was summoned and the body was taken to the hospital, where it was discovered that life had been extinct for at least two hours. During that time the body had been propped up in a rolling chair at New Jersey avenue on the boardwalk. In plain view of hundreds of promenaders, who brushed by believing him to be asleep.

Nothing was found on the body to identify the dead man. Heart trouble caused his death.

WAGE INCREASES NUMEROUS.

Fitchburg, Clinton, Ware, So. Framingham and Dracut Employes Benefit.

Fitchburg, Mass., March 12.—An increase of five per cent. in wages will be given about 3,500 mill employes in this city, beginning next Monday, according to statements made yesterday by mill owners and representatives. The mills which will grant the increases and the number of operatives in their employ follow: Parkhill Manufacturing company, 1,500 employes; the Grant Yarn mill, 400; Fitchburg Yarn company, 400; Orwell cotton mill, 400; Nocke cotton mill, 400; Star Worsted company, 250.

SOUTHWEST SNOWBOUND AGAIN.

Heavy Fall in Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa; Trains Behind Schedule.

Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—For the third time in three weeks, heavy snow yesterday interfered with railway traffic in the Missouri valley. From five to seven inches fell over Missouri and from one to three inches in Nebraska and Iowa. A light snow fell in northern and eastern Kansas and a light rain in southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Trains from the West are running behind schedule.

ONE-HALF BOTTLE OF THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY ACCOMPLISHES WONDERS.

When I sent for a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, I was in great distress day and night. Before I received sample by mail, I went to our best doctor (and he is second to none in this vicinity) and told him how I felt. He put me up a bottle of medicine. I was about a week taking the medicine, but was no better than when I began. I then began your sample bottle, and before I got through with it I felt a change. The scalding sensation did not bother only a few times in the middle of the day. I would not have believed such a small quantity would have done so much, but before it was gone I learned that our druggist kept Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and so got a large bottle for one dollar, but actually worth one hundred dollars. I only took one large tablespoonful three times a day and before I had taken one-half bottle I was all right and have been since. Gratefully yours,
GEORGE S. CHAMPLIN,
Ashaway, R. I.

State of Rhode Island,
County of Washington, ss.
Personally appeared Geo. S. Champlin, to me well known, and made oath that the foregoing statement by him subscribed is true.
E. R. ALLEN,
Notary Public.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do for You
Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Barre Daily Times. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Leads all other medicines in the cure of all spring ailments, humors, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, paleness and nervousness. Take it.

Get it today in usual liquid form or tablets called Sarsatabs. 100 Doses $1.

INDIGESTION GOES IN FIVE MINUTES

Heartburn, Gas, Dyspepsia and Other Stomach Misery Ended With a Little Diapiesin.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full dose of Pape's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case someone else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why Diapiesin always relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapiesin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite, but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapiesin cases, as some people will call them, but you will be cranked about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some Pape's Diapiesin now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

BAY STATE SENATE FOR PRIMARY LAW

Bill Is Now Up to Governor Foss for His Signature—The Bill Wipes Out All Conventions for Electing Delegates to National Conventions.

Boston, March 12.—Presidential preferential primaries on April 30, for the election of all delegates to the national conventions, are practically assured by the passage of the primary bill by the Senate yesterday, in concurrence with the House.

It is expected the bill will be laid before Governor Foss for his approval before the end of this week.

The bill wipes out all conventions for the selection of delegates to national conventions. The Democrats expect Governor Foss will sign it.

VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN.

A. N. Swain Died Saturday Night at His Home in Bellows Falls.

Bellows Falls, March 12.—A. N. Swain died at his home here Saturday night, aged 85.

A. N. Swain was proprietor of the Bellows Falls Times, which he conducted for 32 years. He began work as a printer in the office of the Vermont Journal, published at Windsor, in 1847. He was later assistant editor of the Vermont Republican of Brattleboro for two years.

Mr. Swain came to Bellows Falls in 1850. When he retired from the management of the paper, he withdrew from active participation in public affairs. He was an active member of the Congregational church.

He was 85 years old. Because he was the oldest voter in the town and highly esteemed, it had been the custom for years to have him open the March town meeting by casting the first ballot.

ARMED PEACE NOW PREVAILS IN PEKING

Legation Quarter Is Closed, With Cannon Mounted on the Walls—Houses Outside Are Being Looted.

Peking, March 12.—Armed peace prevails throughout the city. The legation quarter is closed, with cannon mounted on the walls. Shooting occurs occasionally and desecrations happen daily.

Few shops are open and the wealthy Chinese remain in the legation quarter. At night fires are visible in the hills outside the city, where farmers' homes are being looted.

Stories of anarchy, atrocities and suffering come from all the northern provinces. The legations believe the Nanking cabinet is unable to restore order.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of itching, blood, bleeding or protruding piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

LICENSE BOARD REAPPOINTED.

Assistant Judges Name Liquor Commissioners for St. Albans.

St. Albans, March 12.—W. G. Greene and Ellis W. Foster, assistant judges of the Franklin county court, yesterday afternoon announced their appointment of the liquor license commissioners for the city of St. Albans and the town of Swanton. The commissioners in both places, without exception, were reappointed. The appointments for other towns have not been made yet.

The commissioners for St. Albans city are: George C. Story, Orrin N. Pease, Nelson E. Leavoy.

The Swanton commissioners are Frank Hawley, Sumner W. Bliss and Edward J. Bliss.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES

Made by Amundsen According to His Messages

BESIDES THE SOUTH POLE

The Norwegian Sends Cable Saying That He "Happily Reached" the Goal and That He Was About to Leave for Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres, March 12.—Capt. Roald Amundsen has sent the following cable from Hobart, Tasmania, to Pedro Christopherson, a wealthy Norwegian, who lives in this city:

"I am thankful for your generous help and have the pleasure of announcing confidentially that I happily reached goal and made important geographical discoveries. I am about to leave for Buenos Ayres."

Washington, March 12.—"Dog meat is delicious—sometimes," said Admiral Robert E. Peary, the discoverer of the north pole, yesterday, discussing the food eaten by Amundsen's party in their dash to the south pole. "For flavor and bouquet, it doesn't compare with a tenderloin steak, but dog meat is fine when you're cold and hungry—and have nothing else to eat."

"A bit from the hind leg of a sled dog rivals a chunk of gutta percha. There's nothing tougher on earth. No, dog meat is not fried, as a rule; it is boiled, and then boiled. But it can be compared in flavor to bear meat or to that of any carnivorous animal. Of course, it is nothing like the meat of grass-eating animals."

"I've eaten dog meat repeatedly, on almost all of my trips. And every other explorer has probably done the same. Meat can be carried on the hoof that way. The dogs are useful to draw the sledges until they are needed for food for the men and for the other dogs retained."

Peary ridiculed the idea that Amundsen's observations of the south pole were inaccurate because he used only a sextant and artificial horizon and not a theodolite.

"The sextant and artificial horizon are the recognized instruments used by all explorers in such work," he said. "They are accurate enough. The theodolite is much heavier and too bulky for use except at a temporary base or headquarters. The lighter instruments were used by the British arctic expedition, Nansen, myself and many other explorers."

Peary also poo-pooed the idea that Amundsen might not have reached the exact bottom of the earth.

"His accounts state that he stayed three days," said the arctic explorer, "running radii in all directions from his principal point. Just like I did at the north pole. This is assurance that some point the correct position was attained. Accuracy within a few feet is only possible at great observatories with instruments set in concrete."

Henry D. Baker, United States consul at Hobart, Tasmania, has sent the following dispatch to the state department: "Amundsen authorizes me to convey the information to the United States government that he was at the south pole December 14 to 17 and all the party returned safe."

London, March 12.—Antarctic experts here are much interested in the report that Capt. Amundsen admits that his route to the south pole was much easier than that taken by Sir Ernest Shackleton when he made his unsuccessful dash and was compelled to turn back when within 111 miles of his goal.

Capt. Scott planned to follow the same route as that taken by Shackleton, and before the start of the rival antarctic expeditions serious doubts were expressed as to Amundsen's chances of making the pole over a theoretical and entirely unknown route across the ice barrier. It was assumed that the obstacles Amundsen must face might eclipse any of the terrors of the journey described by Shackleton, for as he was to cross the vast ice plain from a region not definitely known to be part of the continent, the possibility of the route's playing out in the pack ice of an interior sea was so he considered.

It is evident that Amundsen journeyed under the most favorable weather conditions. The fact that he remained for three days in the vicinity of the south pole indicates a temperature and calm atmospheric conditions with which Shackleton was not favored. For more unendurable weather than that which the Englishman confronted could scarcely be imagined.

It is not impossible that while the Amundsen party was gliding along in the comparative lowlands of the ice plain the hurricanes to and from the oceans were sweeping high over their heads. When they climbed to the top of the plateau itself, however, they appear to have been blessed with an unusually balmy season.

Amundsen, who with the Belgica expedition in 1898 had been frozen in for a year, close to Alexander I. Land, probably divided all these advantages for a route such as he took long ago, and they doubtless influenced him in undertaking it. For Alexander I. Land, though hundreds of miles to the east of King Edward VII. Land, from which he set out, is a part of the same general region of ice-packed lowland.

Protect Yourself!

Get the Original and Genuine

HORLICK'S MALTED MILK

The Food-drink for All Ages.

For Infants, Invalids and Growing Children. Pure Nutrition, up building the whole body. Invigorates the nursing mother and the aged. Rich milk, malted grain, in powder form.

A quick lunch prepared in a minute. Take no substitute. Ask for HORLICK'S.

Got in Any Milk Trust

Nothing else is as good to take out all soreness, inflammation and roughness from the skin. Use Mentholatum after shaving and it will keep the face soft and the skin in good condition.

Every one should have a jar of Mentholatum in the house ready for use in case of burns, chilblains, frost bites or any soreness, pain, or inflammation. Get a jar to-day and see for yourself how quickly it relieves these winter troubles.

IF TORTURED AND CRIPPLED WITH Rheumatism

NO MATTER WHAT FORM, USE

URIC-O

LARGE SAMPLE FREE

Why suffer another day with that tortuous disease, rheumatism. Why not go to your druggist and get a $1.00 bottle of Uric-O, the remedy recommended to cure this one disease only? Inflammation, sciatic, articular and muscular rheumatism quickly give way to this mighty cure.

Uric-O is a harmless liquid and its action is on the blood, bladder and kidneys. Here is a man in Vermont that praises Uric-O and says: "Over a year ago I was so crippled with rheumatism that I could not even feed myself. Hearing of Uric-O, I purchased and used two bottles. It conquered, and I have not as yet felt the return of the disease. I thought I would wait to see if the cure was one of permanence. I find the cure has come to stay, for which I am very thankful." This letter came from H. S. Clark, road commissioner, West Topsham, Vt. We do not believe that there is a case of rheumatism in the world that Uric-O will not cure. While other remedies apparently ease the pain for a time, it is owing to the fact that they contain opiates or pain deadeners, and as soon as this effect wears off you are more miserable than before.

Uric-O is sold and recommended by fifty thousand druggists, at $1.00 per bottle or six bottles for $5.00; or sent direct, express paid, if dealer can't supply. If you desire, we will send you a large trial bottle of Uric-O free, a regular six-day treatment, providing you enclose 10 cents to cover cost of mailing. When writing, address The Uric-O company, 204 State street, Binghamton, N. Y.

CAMPBELL OF KANSAS WRITES TO ROOSEVELT

Makes Some Observations on Recall of Judges and Declares That Roosevelt Overlooked One of the Most Important Cases Ever Tried.

Washington, D. C., March 12.—Representative Campbell of Kansas yesterday took a hand in the presidential preference primary controversy between Senator Dixon, director of the Roosevelt headquarters, and Representative McKinley, director of the Taft bureau.

Representative Campbell gave out copies of a letter from him to Colonel Roosevelt, making some observations on the recall of judges and judicial decisions. "You overlooked one of the most important cases ever tried," he wrote, "Elise acquitted Christ. An appeal from Pilate's decision was taken to the people and the Savior was crucified. Speaking of reactionaries, you will agree that James II was reactionary, who recalled judges and of judicial decisions, shall now be the test of progressive Republicanism."

Secretary Nagel denounced the charge that President Taft had abandoned the principles of the last administration. He declared that not one of those things for which critics of the administration were now contending, had been embraced in the last Republican platform.

"If the recall of judges and decisions had been embodied in that platform," he said, "it is safe to say that there were men then, as there are men now, who could not stand upon such a plank and could not support their favorite candidate upon such a platform because they would regard these principles as subversive of the fundamental principles of representative government."

To President Roosevelt, said Secretary Nagel, belonged the credit for arousing the people to the full value of the laws to protect them against monopolies and combinations. Col. Roosevelt had fully devoted himself to carrying out the pledges and policies inaugurated by Mr. Roosevelt, and endorsed in the national platform of 1908.

"The pledges of that platform have been kept," declared Secretary Nagel. "Perhaps never in the history of the Republican party have so many distinct pledges of a platform been redeemed within one administration. It has been carried out with respect to its specific promises and according to its spirit. The president has by every act redeemed the pledges of the platform and his own promises."

Further remedies were necessary, said Secretary Nagel, to make corporate control effective; but President Taft's remedies were giving him no aid in getting such remedies, he said.

"This task is still unfinished," said Mr. Nagel. "It is pressing for decision. It were better that we apply ourselves to the practical performance of so important a pledge, than to fill the public ear with vague promises for the fulfillment of visionary desire. The initiative, referendum and recall are advocated by men who are ambitious for national office, and generally avoided by men who have to do with local affairs. Each is busy making promises to which he cannot be successfully held."

The adoption of those proposals, he said, would mean that "the constitution, to all intents and purposes, when its guarantees are most needed, is abolished."

"It means that the determination of what is right, and therefore what is constitutional, must be left to the author of the nostrum itself," said Secretary Nagel. "It means one-man power; as pure democracy always has meant and always will mean. It is not progressive; its reactionary; for by its teaching every people that has ever experimented with these doctrines has gone to its destruction."

"It is one thing to make complaints; it is quite another thing to provide the relief. It is one thing to entertain the people with declamation; it is another thing to formulate a rule which is calculated to promote the welfare of the people. In the past we have never denied that there was much truth in Mr. Bryan's complaints; but we have denounced his remedies. In the field of promises we have conceded him a monopoly. To-day we have to confess that critics in our own ranks have not only broadly accepted and enlarged upon his complaints, but have pre-empted and expanded the doctrine of his remedies."

Secretary Nagel declared the Republican party had always been progressive; but that "now we are asked to prove our allegiance to progressive principles by jumping off the political horizon."

Willard Denison, who died in West Leyden recently, at the age of 84 years, formerly conducted a large farm and sawmill at Green river in Guilford. The remains were brought back to Guilford, where they were buried in the old cemetery on the Denison farm.

FOR CHAPPED HANDS

Mentholatum Quickly Relieves Soreness and Makes Skin Smooth.

Now is the time when the cold winds clap and crack the hands and lips and Mentholatum is most needed. This healing, soothing antiseptic ointment prevents rough skin if applied after washing the hands and face but if the hands are already chapped, apply freely at night and in the morning the skin will be smooth.

Nothing else is as good to take out all soreness, inflammation and roughness from the skin. Use Mentholatum after shaving and it will keep the face soft and the skin in good condition.

Every one should have a jar of Mentholatum in the house ready for use in case of burns, chilblains, frost bites or any soreness, pain, or inflammation. Get a jar to-day and see for yourself how quickly it relieves these winter troubles.

"CONFUSING PUBLIC MIND"

And Making Promises to Which They Cannot Be Held

SO SEC. NAGEL DECLARED

In Address in Indianapolis Last Night When He Lauded Taft Administration as a Complete Fulfillment of 1908 Pledges.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—In a speech lauding President Taft's administration as a complete fulfillment of all the Republican platform pledges of 1908 and a strict continuation of the policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt, Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor last night made a vigorous attack upon the advocates of such governmental changes as the initiative, referendum and recall.

Secretary Nagel declared that public men were attempting to "confuse the public mind"; that they were "busy making promises to which they cannot be successfully held"; that the recall of judges would "make trimmers of men" and "deter men of independence and capacity from accepting positions of trust."

"It was conceivable fifty years ago that as a result of our internal strife there might have been two republics," he said. "It is conceivable to-day, that if some of the suggestions impatiently put forward at this time are to prevail, the question will arise of whether or not there shall be one republic. Against such a contingency it behooves every citizen to set his face in absolute disregard of every other consideration, personal or political."

The efforts of President Taft to carry out the pledges of the party, he said, had brought no aid from his Republican critics.

"For the last three years," said Secretary Nagel, "during a period of unflinching struggle to realize and bring into action every pledge that was made in the name of the Republican party, there has been uttered scarcely a word of approval by them of these things accomplished. Scarcely a hand was raised to help lift the burden which the party by their consent and approval had assumed."

"CONFUSING PUBLIC MIND"

And Making Promises to Which They Cannot Be Held

SO SEC. NAGEL DECLARED

In Address in Indianapolis Last Night When He Lauded Taft Administration as a Complete Fulfillment of 1908 Pledges.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—In a speech lauding President Taft's administration as a complete fulfillment of all the Republican platform pledges of 1908 and a strict continuation of the policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt, Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor last night made a vigorous attack upon the advocates of such governmental changes as the initiative, referendum and recall.

Secretary Nagel declared that public men were attempting to "confuse the public mind"; that they were "busy making promises to which they cannot be successfully held"; that the recall of judges would "make trimmers of men" and "deter men of independence and capacity from accepting positions of trust."

"It was conceivable fifty years ago that as a result of our internal strife there might have been two republics," he said. "It is conceivable to-day, that if some of the suggestions impatiently put forward at this time are to prevail, the question will arise of whether or not there shall be one republic. Against such a contingency it behooves every citizen to set his face in absolute disregard of every other consideration, personal or political."

The efforts of President Taft to carry out the pledges of the party, he said, had brought no aid from his Republican critics.

"For the last three years," said Secretary Nagel, "during a period of unflinching struggle to realize and bring into action every pledge that was made in the name of the Republican party, there has been uttered scarcely a word of approval by them of these things accomplished. Scarcely a hand was raised to help lift the burden which the party by their consent and approval had assumed."

"Instead, they have filled the air with nostrums, the acceptance of which they pronounce to be the sole test of the progressive spirit. Instead of aiding to fulfill what has been solemnly promised in the name of the people, it is proclaimed that the initiative, the referendum and the recall of officials, including judges, and of judicial decisions, shall now be the test of progressive Republicanism."

Secretary Nagel denounced the charge that President Taft had abandoned the principles of the last administration. He declared that not one of those things for which critics of the administration were now contending, had been embraced in the last Republican platform.

"If the recall of judges and decisions had been embodied in that platform," he said, "it is safe to say that there were men then, as there are men now, who could not stand upon such a plank and could not support their favorite candidate upon such a platform because they would regard these principles as subversive of the fundamental principles of representative government."

To President Roosevelt, said Secretary Nagel, belonged the credit for arousing the people to the full value of the laws to protect them against monopolies and combinations. Col. Roosevelt had fully devoted himself to carrying out the pledges and policies inaugurated by Mr. Roosevelt, and endorsed in the national platform of 1908.

"The pledges of that platform have been kept," declared Secretary Nagel. "Perhaps never in the history of the Republican party have so many distinct pledges of a platform been redeemed within one administration. It has been carried out with respect to its specific promises and according to its spirit. The president has by every act redeemed the pledges of the platform and his own promises."

Further remedies were necessary, said Secretary Nagel, to make corporate control effective; but President Taft's remedies were giving him no aid in getting such remedies, he said.

"This task is still unfinished," said Mr. Nagel. "It is pressing for decision. It were better that we apply ourselves to the practical performance of so important a pledge, than to fill the public ear with vague promises for the fulfillment of visionary desire. The initiative, referendum and recall are advocated by men who are ambitious for national office, and generally avoided by men who have to do with local affairs. Each is busy making promises to which he cannot be successfully held."

The adoption of those proposals, he said, would mean that "the constitution, to all intents and purposes, when its guarantees are most needed, is abolished."

"It means that the determination of what is right, and therefore what is constitutional, must be left to the author of the nostrum itself," said Secretary Nagel. "It means one-man power; as pure democracy always has meant and always will mean. It is not progressive; its reactionary; for by its teaching every people that has ever experimented with these doctrines has gone to its destruction."

"It is one thing to make complaints; it is quite another thing to provide the relief. It is one thing to entertain the people with declamation; it is another thing to formulate a rule which is calculated to promote the welfare of the people. In the past we have never denied that there was much truth in Mr. Bryan's complaints; but we have denounced his remedies. In the field of promises we have conceded him a monopoly. To-day we have to confess that critics in our own ranks have not only broadly accepted and enlarged upon his complaints, but have pre-empted and expanded the doctrine of his remedies."

Secretary Nagel declared the Republican party had always been progressive; but that "now we are asked to prove our allegiance to progressive principles by jumping off the political horizon."

FOR CHAPPED HANDS

Mentholatum Quickly Relieves Soreness and Makes Skin Smooth.

Now is the time when the cold winds clap and crack the hands and lips and Mentholatum is most needed. This healing, soothing antiseptic ointment prevents rough skin if applied after washing the hands and face but if the hands are already chapped, apply freely at night and in the morning the skin will be smooth.

Nothing else is as good to take out all soreness, inflammation and roughness from the skin. Use Mentholatum after shaving and it will keep the face soft and the skin in good condition.

Every one should have a jar of Mentholatum in the house ready for use in case of burns, chilblains, frost bites or any soreness, pain, or inflammation. Get a jar to-day and see for yourself how quickly it relieves these winter troubles.

ONE PASSENGER HURT.

Federal Express on New Haven Road Runs into a Light Express.

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—The collision of the federal express over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad with a light engine, at 3:16 o'clock yesterday morning, did slight damage to the engine of the express. C. V. Pitt, a passenger, was slightly hurt, according to the official statement of the railroad.

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—The collision of the federal express over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad with a light engine, at 3:16 o'clock yesterday morning, did slight damage to the engine of the express. C. V. Pitt, a passenger, was slightly hurt, according to the official statement of the railroad.

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—The collision of the federal express over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad with a light engine, at 3:16 o'clock yesterday morning, did slight damage to the engine of the express. C. V. Pitt, a passenger, was slightly hurt, according to the official statement of the railroad.

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—The collision of the federal express over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad with a light engine, at 3:16 o'clock yesterday morning, did slight damage to the engine of the express. C. V. Pitt, a passenger, was slightly hurt, according to the official statement of the railroad.